At his computer from 3pm to 2am

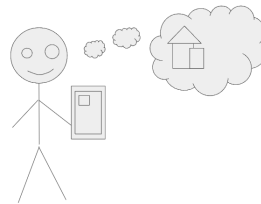

Eric works everyday from his home in Missouri as a content creator constantly working from his computer.

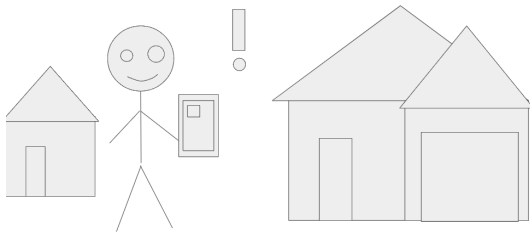

He often yells at his work, and constantly gets noise complaints from his neighbors. It does not help that he also has

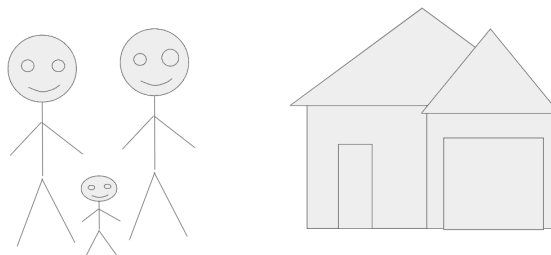

The state he lives in currently is empty, he wants to have a place with diverse restaurants, and amusement parks to spend time with his daughter.

He uses our website that allows him to easily look for his dream house, he then starts putting in the details he is looking for.

He searches for a house with 3 rooms, a closet, low tax, no cold weather, stable seasons, and a place with thick walls so he is not heard by his neighbors.

Eric is now happy in his new house, using the app. All his searches are found even with his low level of comfort with technology. Now both erobb, his girlfriend, and his child are happy.

Noel is a travel nurse who is constantly having to buy, rent, or sell houses. She wants to more easily manage her options to make better decisions.

One day, while on break, her coworker shows her an app she had used recently to research houses for sale.

Inevitably, the time came, she had to move again. This time however, she was prepared.

After downloading the app, she began looking around and becoming familiar with it, deciding this may be a useful tool the next time she has to move.

After deciding on a house and connecting with a housing agent for advice on finalizing her purchase, she continued with the process effortlessly.

Noel successfully moved, and now lives happily in her new house.

Kayly is an immigrant from Vietnam. She has been living in the US for 6 years and recently have the need to get a permanent place to live.

Her job allows her to work part time from home, so she spends more than half of her time at her house. She is easily distracted that she needs a quiet environment to concentrate.

Kayly is not quite used to American foods, so she also need a place that is close by Asian restaurants and convenience stores.

She starts using our app and fills in every details of her requirements to look for a house matching her needs.

She is trying to find a house having toilets equipped with high pressure water spray, but she ends up with a house with 4 bedrooms and 2 bathrooms without the specified toilet feature because it's rare in the US. She also searches for a place not surrounded by trees to avoid pollen.

Kayly is not 100% satisfied with her new house, but she is happy after moving in the house knowing that the toilet thing is barely available anywhere. At least she got every other needs satisfied.
